

Solventum, formerly 3M Health Care

The new healthcare company you already know

At Solventum, we create breakthrough solutions for our customers' toughest challenges by pioneering game-changing innovations at the intersection of health, material and data science to change patients' lives for the better — while enabling healthcare professionals to perform at their best.

We partner closely with the best minds in healthcare

We too are passionate about moving healthcare forward — why not do it together?

More than 250 Solventum subject matter experts share a passion for helping healthcare professionals navigate the complexities of the industry. Whether the topic be physician burnout, automation or generative AI, our team of experts are here to curate content that will not only advise but encourage as well. We're solvers, as well as:

- AI experts and technologists
- Clinicians
- Health information management professionals
- Informaticists and healthcare economists
- Nosologists
- Revenue cycle, coding and CDI experts

Enabling your professionals to perform at their best

Your areas of interest are our priority. Together, we can determine the pressing areas your organization wants to hear about most, such as:

- Conquering administrative burden and burnout
- Driving clinician productivity and efficiency
- Exploring and improving quality measures
- Maximizing compliant reimbursement
- Mitigating payer denials
- Navigating industry and regulatory requirements
- Revolutionizing data strategy
- Transforming technology deployment

Let's connect

At Solventum, we never stop solving for you. To chat about having us speak to your organization, email contactHISmarketing@solventum.com.